“ TJ was the sweetest little man in the world. He was always happy to see people and had the cutest lil face and I'm gonna miss him so much. The first time I met TJ I fell completely in love with his personality. Literally the best. rip baby boy 🥹

“ Oh TJ, we all miss you so much. You're our best boy and my biggest fan. I miss having you perched on the end of my couch, going on walks and welcoming me home at the end of the day and just spending time with you. Say hi to Cupcake and Hermes for me. They'll take care of you.

“ Hey tj Leon shared some old photos of you with me today. He loves and misses you.

Leon was their sweet ol hippie dad before he needed someone to step in and care for them at the age of 11. I never got to meet their sister Mimi, but I know tj and her are so happy together. I am forever grateful for Leon. We kept in touch. Tj saw him just days before his passing, and his wife and child who the dogs also lived with. We shared so many stories about TJ when we would meet up. I am grateful. I love you tj.

“ TJ- This loss would be ever harder if I didn't know how very loved you were by your parents and how good of a home you had. Always the confident, handsome one. You will be very missed by all who knew you. A special boy with a heart of gold. One of the greatest. Hopefully you have already found Biscuit, Bella and Mimi in doggy heaven and your souls have been reunited. I love you. Always have. Always will. ❤️

“ TJ, you were always up for an adventure. Like the time you hid in our car when we were leaving so you could take a road trip. You were a sweetheart. Thanks for the memories! ❤️

“ Tj, words can't describe how much I have cherished and adored you. Being your mom was the biggest blessing I could ever had. Losing you has left the biggest hole in my spirit. I couldn't have had a sweeter, more gentle little man. The friendliest, cuddliest boy ever. Your family will never forget you. I love you handsome man ❤️
